It gives me great pleasure to welcome you to this latest issue of iLINK! Whether you are in Haining, in China or beyond, we hope that this information will help you appreciate and take greater advantage of Library and Information Center (LIC) services and resources.

This issue of iLINK comes to us at a challenging time. The COVID-19 pandemic has upended us in ways we never would have imagined before. It has sickened millions and killed hundreds of thousands of people around the world; destroyed livelihoods and broken dreams. But like any crisis, it has also forced us to innovate, finding solutions to move forward. China demonstrated how clear direction and discipline can be a guide through uncertainty and adversity. And here at ZJU, our students and our entire community showed the importance of flexibility and creativity as we moved our courses to online and virtual delivery, ensuring learning continuity.

One of the big takeaways for us on the International Campus is how technology links people through the sharing of knowledge, especially during periods of crisis and change. LIC leveraged its resources for the production and publication of virtual tutorials and guides, created an online consultation service and expanded its online databases and ebooks to support students and faculty in their virtual learning. Technology allowed our students to not only attend courses, but to connect with their professors and fellow students through tools such as WebEx, DingTalk and MSTEams, as well as our own learning in ZJU online platform. While the pandemic changed our habits and the way we learn, it did not change our thirst for knowledge.

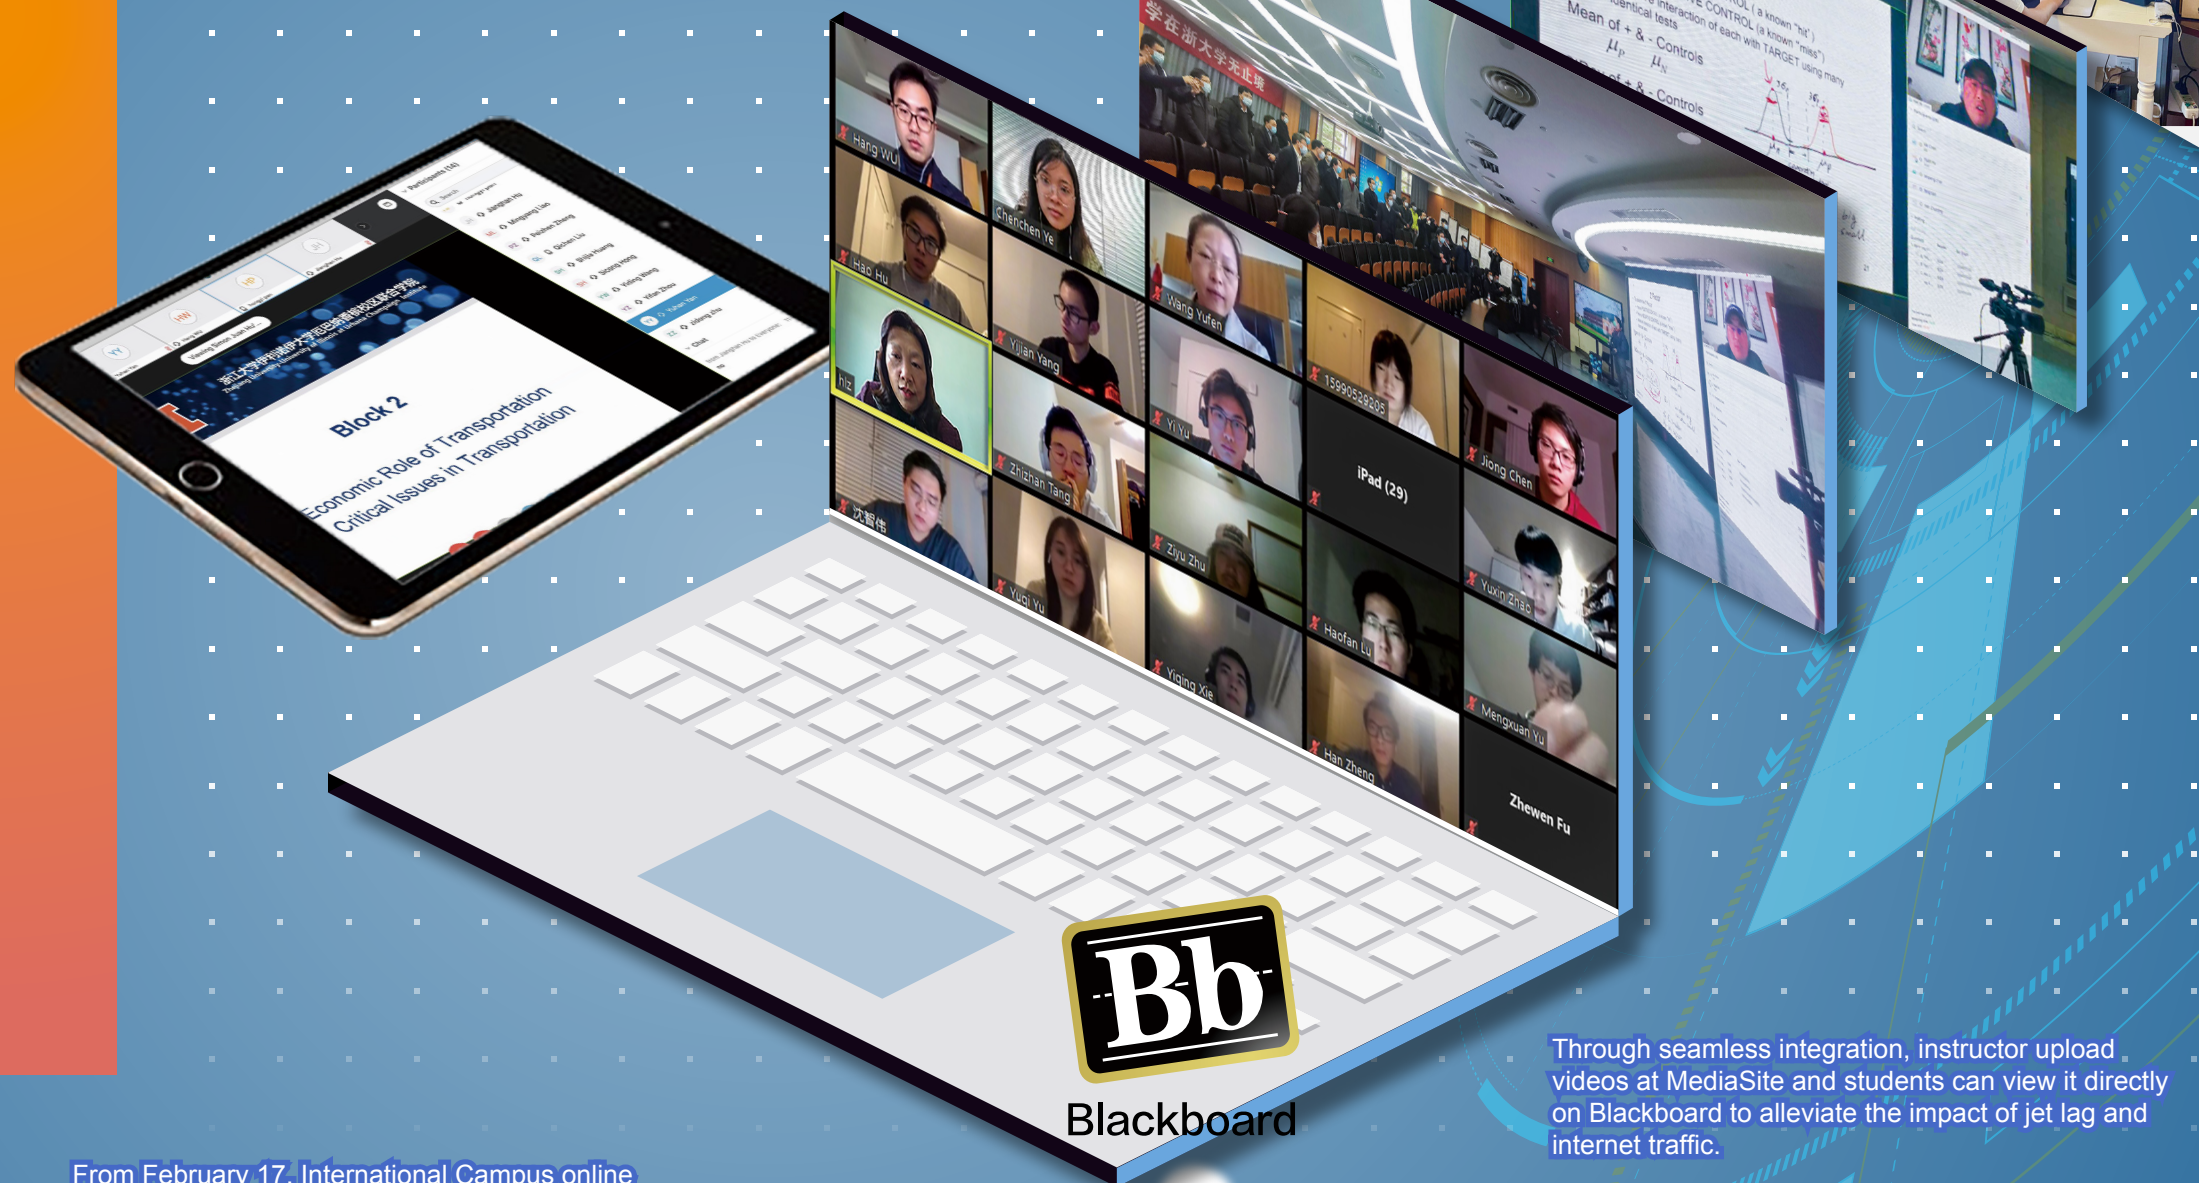

This issue of iLINK magazine highlights the work done by the Library and Information Center during the special period, to support and accompany the International Campus community. Moving ahead this semester, information services and online teaching and learning support will play an increasingly important role, so be sure to follow its developments.

In the meantime, enjoy the issue!

Online Teaching and Learning #With Me

With the outbreak of the COVID-19 in 2020, students and teachers on International Campus are scattered all over the world, with teaching and learning affected by geographical problems. Better Classrooms #For You

To meet the needs of online and off-line combined teaching and learning after students return to school, during the two months of summer vacation 2020, engineers of Library and Information Center worked day and night, and finally five remote interactive classrooms were put into use as scheduled.

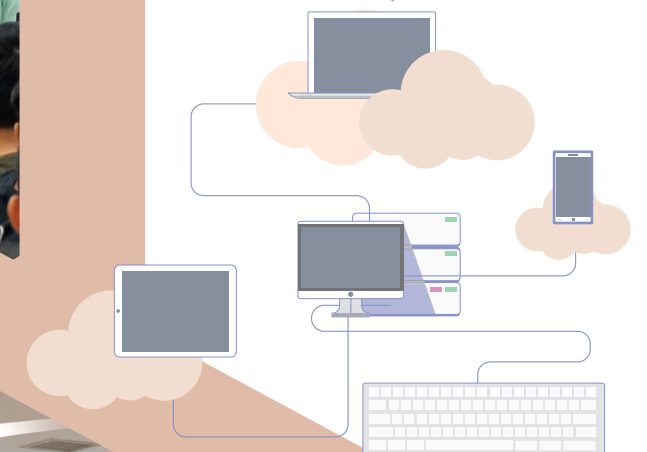

Remote classrooms integrated with international video interactive platforms such as Webex and Teams, realizes a mode of online teaching and learning with off-line combined.

High-resolution projectors, high-definition microphone system, integrated LCD center control, full-interface mobile BYOD device connection, physical projection with free writing.....all of these equipment have become a standard of classrooms in International Campus. The refreshed classroom environment will bring teachers and students a better teaching and learning experience.

In the new semester, teachers far away in the United States can teach on the screen shared with students through remote interactive classrooms. Teachers who have returned to school can start classes in the new multimedia classroom, and international students who cannot return to school can also watch live online in real time.

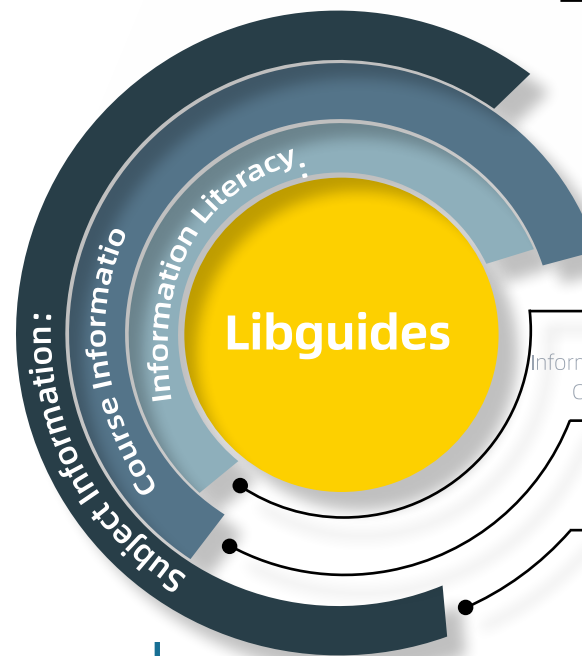

From May 4th, students returned to campus gradually. In order to satisfy the teaching and research needs of teachers and students, on the basis of maintaining physical and mental health, the library has formulated a considerate opening plan and opened gradually in accordance with the requirements of epidemic prevention and control. Graduation #With Me

By the time of 2020 summer, the first graduates of International Campus will leave school. The PeopleSoft system has been accompanying with international campus for almost 4 years in student full-life-cycle management. During which time, our first graduates admitted in 2016 fall semester, have completed every academic requirement according to their overall cultivation plan in PeopleSoft system, and have received their Bachelor's degree certificates and graduate certificates successfully after graduation review.

For the first time, PeopleSoft completed a full-life-cycle management of student information. At the same time, an international mode of teaching and learning management has also been formed.

Best Wishes #For You

At the same time, "Farewell ZJU" series activity organized by library also accompanied students through the graduation season. There are 4 activities including ZJU Story that shows student's personal "footprint" in the library, ZJU Mark which is a beautiful crystal seal with library elements, can be used to mark the memory of youth, ZJU Talk attracted many graduates speak out their love to the library, and A ZJUer Forever that makes participating graduates a life-long access to the library.

There are three things that make the library particularly glamorous: First, it is a place of guidance, leading our students to learn and explore; second, it is creative and collaborative, providing plenty of space for interaction; and third, it is inclusive, bringing together bright minds from all over the world to immerse themselves in learning

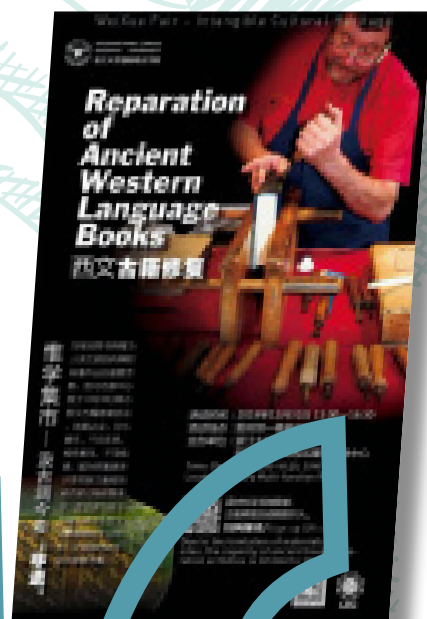

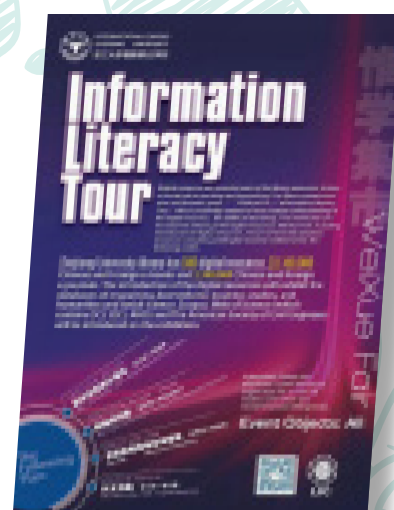

—CHEN Haonan, EE, ZJU

During the past four years, my favorite place in the campus is the library. I enjoy every moment from 8:30 to 22:30 in the library and I hope the library will get better and better!

—WANG Minglu, BMS, ZJE

Not only am I one of the first students at the International Campus, but also the head of the library's first student assistant committee. The library and I have grown up together, from a reading room with only a few small shelves in the Residential College to the present octagonal library, from only the first floor having been opened at the beginning to the entire three floors being opened and the discussion room being opened for discussion and study now, the function of the library has grown from less to more, which also symbolizes that my knowledge has grown from fewer to much. I hope that years from now when I return to the library I can see a different library, a better library, and a different and better me in the library!
